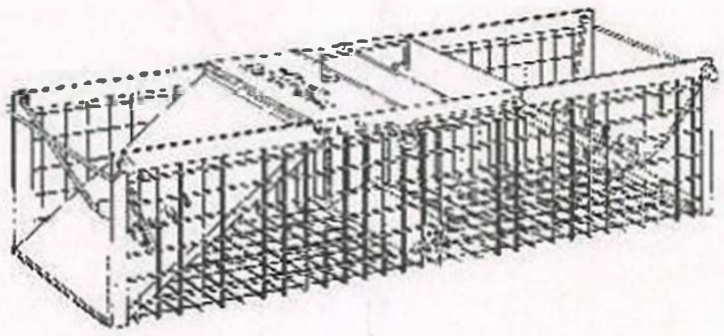
Setting the Trap

Preparando la trampa

Mettre le piège



1. Turn the door locks to the open position (illustration 1)

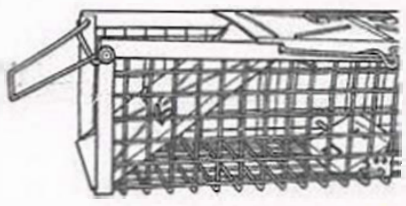


Illustration 1

2. Push down on the straight trigger rod to open door.
3. While holding door open, place bait on the bait pan. See 'Suggested Baits'. When finished, close door.
4. Push down on the offset loop on the looped trigger rod to open both doors (illustration 2)

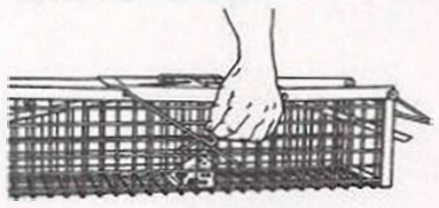

Illustration 2

S. Position the flat end of the looped trigger rod under the flat end of the bait pan trigger so that both doors are held open and the bait pan is level (illustration 3)

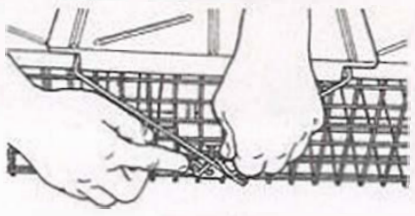

Illustration 3

6. Turn door lock knobs so that both door locks rest on doors (illustration 4)

Illustration 4

7. Set and trip cage several times to be sure the cage is working properly. Trip cage using a pen or pencil, sticking an end through the side of the cage and pushing down on the bait pan.

Setting Trap for 1-Door

1. With the cage closed, move the straight trigger rod so it is above and out of the working range of the looped trigger rod (illustration S)

2. Place bait at back (closed end of cage)

Releasing the Animal

To release the animal, flip the door locks into the unlocked position (illustration 1). Gently flip the trap on to its side or upside down. We suggest wearing gloves when handling a trap that contains an animal. Stay clear until animal leaves.
